Winter Issue of Alki "Library in Community" Out Now!

This issue of Alki addresses the vital roles libraries play in the communities and networks that exist beyond their doors. From institutions like schools and hospitals to local and national publics, this issue captures the entanglements, challenges, and aspirations of libraries' work engaging their communities writ large.

Inside this issue, you'll see the breadth of those roles and networks. From broader school funding to library politics to the role of the librarian-advocate, this issue covers a variety of perspectives on how libraries go above and beyond to meet their communities. You'll also read about under-utilized library networks, like Washington's Network of Health Information Ambassadors, and how readers' broader networks, such as social media and culturally inclusive calendars, can make for great recommendations. Our cover photo, capturing the 1915 librarian founders of the Spokane Mountaineers club, also invites the big questions, such as: "what's in that bucket, anyway?"
